

in a n extended moment of time an infinite permutation of internal images from the unpredictable climb through gaps as light runs through light to give the divine in ourselves a chance from invisible to visible form reflections traced through that which we all inherently are one divine perpetuity abstracts capacities of the brain across layers implying intimately that there's a superstructure about some unaccountable source the very desiGn of perfect coincidence the absOlute generosity of gods with the collateral assistance of naturAl magic evoking

a special form of insanity quintessential past the faculty of imagination some dictate from eternit y